BASIC-ABSTRACT:

NOVELTY - A medical information agency center (100), hospitals (11,12) and user terminals (41,42) are connected to a network (1). The medical information agency center executes negotiation between the hospital and the user terminal, while providing the medical information from the hospital to the user terminal.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION - INDEPENDENT CLAIMS are also included for the following:

- (a) Medical information providing system;
- (b) Transmitting terminal;
- (c) Receiving terminal;
- (d) Agency terminal;
- (e) Delivery terminal;
- (f) Recorded medium storing medical information providing program

USE - In hospitals for transmission and reception of photographed medical images.

ADVANTAGE - Sharing of medical information is performed in the network, without a complicated contract between the hospital and the user and without a complicated investigation about the user.

DESCRIPTION OF DRAWING(S) - The figure shows the block diagram of medical information providing system. (Drawing includes non-English language text).
